Helping Transitioning Military Service Members Start a Career

What is Job Corps?

Transitioning from the military and starting a new career can be challenging. Job Corps can help. At Job Corps, transitioning military service members can train for a new and rewarding career. After training, our staff will work with you to find a job for up to 21 months.

Job Corps offers hands-on training to low-income 16- through 24-year-olds in America's fastest-growing careers. Job Corps serves 60,000 young people each year in more than 100 career areas. Job Corps offers transitioning military service members priority enrollment at 125 centers across the nation. No matter where you are coming from or where you want to go, there is a Job Corps center nearby.

Starting a new career.

One of the program's biggest benefits is its postgraduate support. When Job Corps graduates are ready to start looking for a job, staff members will work with them to find job openings and submit resumes. Job Corps will help graduates for up to 21 months after graduation to connect with housing, transportation, and other support services.
